This European patent reference is in English and thus no further concise explanation is required. Please also refer to U.S. Patent No. 5,768,401.

EP 1 028 305 A2

This reference describes an apparatus for determining the diameter of a thread using an optical sensor, the apparatus includes a supporting structure for supporting a reference object having at least one accurately known dimension and moving means for selectively moving the supporting structure such that a reference object placed on the supporting structure is disposed within the sensor's field of view. The step of determining a parameter such as the diameter involves calibrating the sensor with a calibration element that is insensitive to ambient influences.

FR 2 256 394

This reference discloses an apparatus for determining the diameter of a fiber using an optical sensor, the apparatus includes a supporting structure for supporting a reference object and moving means for moving the camera such that the reference object placed on the supporting structure is disposed within the sensor's field of view. The method of determining the diameter is done without contact using an oscillating sample.
